2016 State of Professional Career Services and the Professional Workforce

8:30 a.m.  Haviland Commons

Arrival, Welcome Breakfast & Conference Overview

Dean Jeffrey Edleson and the Berkeley Social Welfare team welcome you to Cal!
Enjoy breakfast and networking introductions as we give a general overview of conference activities and logistics.

9:15 a.m.  Haviland Commons

2016 State of Career Services in Professional Education
featuring Interactive Learning Technology Demonstration

Participants will have the opportunity to introduce their current career services programming and structure, and engage in interactive group discussion using clicker technology. We will explore how social work career services are currently designed and delivered in programs across the country represented by conference attendees. We will also take a look at some of the current trends and controversies impacting our work and existing operating environments. Berkeley Social Welfare’s Instructional Technologist Andy Peterson will share some possibilities for using interactive clicker technology in workshop presentations.

10:15 a.m.  BREAK

10:30 a.m.  Haviland Commons

2016 State of the Professional Workforce

Where are social workers working now? Where will they be working 5-10 years from now?
Continuing with the interactive clicker technology to drive interactive group discussion, we will consider some of the demographic and market trends in social work professional employment. Participants will have the opportunity to share current data resources and learn about new ones. Representatives from the California Social Work Education Center will be on hand to moderate a discussion about examples of workforce development and training responses attempting to address expected future social work professional workforce needs.

11:45 a.m.  Transfer to Lunch  Faculty Club Great Hall

Walk through campus to the historic Faculty Club for a buffet line lunch in the Great Hall.

The Faculty Club Great Hall lunch line includes a hot food station a grill station, sandwich station, desserts and beverage, and a salad bar with a wide and ever-changing variety of salads. These often include pastas, pizza, hummus and much more.

CHANNELING ACTIVISM IN SOCIAL WORK

The Free Speech Movement rocked the University of California, Berkeley campus in the fall of 1964. The ensuing protests and campus response became a national media sensation, and set the stage for decades of student activism “firsts” at Berkeley.

Over 5 decades later this deep-rooted social and political activism continues. How do we, as developers of social work professionals, channel this activism into career opportunities for new generations of social workers and social activists?
